DAMOS - DATABASE OF MYCENAEAN AT OSLO (FEDERICO AURORA)

DAMOS is an annotated corpus of all the published Mycenaean texts, allowing for a corpus linguistics approach to the study of the earliest attested Greek dialect. Text files, reproducing the most updated editions of the texts, have been imported into a relational database (MySQL) and are now being annotated for morphology, syntax and lexical information. Noteworthy is that DAMOS allows for storing multiple, competing analyses of a given linguistic unity (e.g. a word). A rich set of metadata, including - automatically imported - detailed epigraphical information, is also available for searches and can, thus, be crossed with linguistic data. Online edition: <https://www2.hf.uio.no/damos>.
